Foreword

This study is a record of material about Chicago in magazines on the shelves of public and institutional libraries in the city and its environs. Volume I, begins with 1833, the year that marks the incorporation of Chicago, and it closes with 1871, the year of the Great Fire. A few earlier entries have been included as leading up to the formal beginning date. In a study of this kind limited by time requirements, addenda are inevitable.

Symbols have been used to throw light on the nature of the references in addition to the summaries:

B Brief - generally less than 300 words.

E Extended.

D. Detailed - the style is specific.

G. General.

I. Illustrated.

S. Statistics.
